THE CUBAN QUESTION IN SPAIN.

British Advice to the Spaniards and Intense Excitement in Madrid.

SPAIN.

General Sickles' Notes-Newspaper Excitement-Another Frigate for Cuba.

MADRID, Sept. 18, 1869. The Spanish press has been in a complete ferment of excitement and indignation since the presenta-tion of General Sickles' notes to the government. sadly. They say he was sent here solely because he was known to be a strong partizan of Cuban annexation. General Sickles emphatically denies the ast insists that he has never broached the question of the cession of the island to the United States, but has merely ninted that the American government is willing to interpose its friendly offices for the set tlement of Spain's difficulties with Cuba.

ENGLAND.

The Cuban Question—Chances of War Be-tween Spain and the United States—What the Press Says.

The Spectator says war between Spain and the United States on account of Cuba appears like a moral impossibility; but it is universally believed in just now in Spain. The war enthusiasm there is gathering fast. Minister Sickles' proposition is inconsistent with the precedent furnished by the conduct of the United States in 1861. What with Spanish pride and American sympathies the situa tion is very critical. It is difficult to believe that Spain with a divided people, a bankrupt treasury, one colony in revolt, others to lose and nothing to win, can seriously contemplate war with one of the greatest Powers on earth.

The Saturday Review holds that if the proposal f General Sickles is accurately reported there is no ground for complaint against America for making an offer to spain in the character of a disinterested mediator. It is possible that some of those people in Spain who urge the sending of reinforcements to Cuba desire the absence of the army. With a military force only can the Regent maintain the power and authority of the Cortes against the republicans and Carlists. The friends of Isabella light be formidable in the absence of the army. The ricans to possess Cuba the writer thinks the argu ments of Mr. Buchanan in favor of annexation must be more agreeable to their ears now slavery has been suppressed; but whether it is their true interes to include an alien and uncongenial population in the Union is a question for future history.

Opinion of the Daily Press.

LONDON, Sept. 18, 1869.

The London Times calls to mind that the first anniversary of the frevolution in Spain has passed, and none of the evils laid to the charge of the Bourbons have diminished; they have rather increased. There is greater distress and confusion and less concord, ficiency and public security. The policy of the government in the provinces is reviewed, and its action there contrasted with its action in the city of Madrid. The Times acknowledges that all is done ment produce helplessness and improvidence among all. There is hardly a ruling man in the who government. Such as they are Spain must accept them; the country yields no better and must make

The London News says the question as to an improved understanding between Spain and the United States remains unsolved. While the latter is impatient of delay the former is sending armaments that may precipitate a conflict. The Spanish ex-chequer is virtually empty, and temporary loans are resorted to at increasingly onerous terms. This fact the pending crists.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Graham, M. A., D. C. L., F. R. S. A cable despatch from London reports the death in that city of Thomas Graham, the celebrated chemist and Master of the Mint. He was born to Glasgow, Scotland, on the 21st of December, 1805 his father being a merchant and manufacturer in that city. Mr. Graham was educated at Giasgov School, and subsequently at the University of Glasgow, where he graduated, taking the degree of M. A. School, and subsequently at the University of Glasgow, where he graduated, taking the degree of M. A. In 1826. He then moved to Edinburg, but at the end of two years returned to his native place and established a laboratory for the practical study of chemistry. He also lectured at the Mechanics' Institute, and was elected Andersonian Professor at Glasgow. This office he heid until 1837, when he resigned for the purpose of accepting the Professorship of Chemistry in the London University, to which he had been appointed. In 1855 Sir John Herschei retired from the Mastership of the Mint, and Mr. Graham was appointed to fill the vacancy, holding the position with credit until his death.

There has probably been no chemist in Great Britain of equal ability to Mr. Graham during the past quarter of a century. His study of the sciences was complete, and his discoveries and works have been er great scientific importance to the world. His most remarkable discoveries were the law of the diffusion of gases, the diffusion of liquids and the new method or separation known as dialysis. For the first named discovery he received the Kheth prize of the Royal Society of Edinburg in 1834, and for the last the Copiey medal of the Royal Society in 1892. Of his literary productions the most important and best known is "Elements of Chemistry," which has been extensively circuisted and read in Great Britain and Germany, and is also a familiar work to scientific students in the United States and other parts of the world. Mr. Graham was elected a Felichw of the Royal Society in 1836, a corresponding member of the Academy of Sciences of the institute of France in 1848, an was created an honorary D. C. L. by Oxford University in 1855.

NEW YORK AND THE WORLD

Salling of Steamships Yesterday-The Cosmopolitan Character of This Port. The list of steamships which arrive and sail from this port almost daily prove better than anything else not only the metropolitan, but the cosmopolitan character of New York. There is hardly a day in the week that it is not the duty of the HERALD to announce either the arrival or departure of a number of steamships, freighted with passengers and merof steamships, freighted with passengers and merchandise, coming from or bound to all parts of the world. No other city on this Continent can claim the same pre-eminence, and no other city in the world, except one or two in Europe, stands as prominent in the world's trade. Whatever of strenuous efforts other cities on the American Continent may make to establish steamship lines to Europe and other ports, their success is temporary only. The artificial means to create trade never succeed, for the natural support is wanting. Not so in New York. Here trade centres from all points of the compass. It is not necessary to call for subscriptions by citizens, nor to petition the government for large subsidies from the public treasury. The enterprising steamship to petition the government for large subsidies from the public treasury. The enterprising steamship companies know this to be the only legitimate outlet of the foreign trade of the United States, and hence, without any especial nursing, the steam communication of New York with all the prominent ports of the civilized world is steadily extending and increasing. Take the list for yesterday as a sample.

There salled from this port:—
For Liverpool and Queenstown the steamers Virginia, Captain Forbes, of the National line, and the City of Antwerp, of the inman line.
For Glasgow and Londonderry the steamship
Europa, of the Anenor line.
For Erest and Havie, the steamer St. Laurent,
Captain Lemarie, of the Compagnie Generale Transstantique.

Captain Lemante, or attaining attaining attaining attaining.

For Gaiveston, Texas, the steamer Ariadne, Captain Eldidge.

For New Orleans, La., the steamships De Soto, Captain Norton, or the Old line; the George Washington, Captain Gager, of the Cromwell line, and the General Meade, Captain Simpson, of the Merchants' tain Starkey, of the Florida Railroad Company's line.

For Charleston, S. C., the Manhattan, Captain Woodhuil, of the New York and Charleston Steamship Company.

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond, Va., the Old Dominion Steamship Company despatched yesterday one of their vessels from this port.

Considering the other lines of steamships to Hamburg, Bremen Copenhagen and Stettin; to Rio Janeiro, Havana; to Aspinwall and Panama, and connecting there with the Paclific Mail Steamship Company's line to Yokohama, Shangtnea and Hong Kong, which leave here on other days in the week, it is not exaggerating to say that New York is a city of cosmopolitan importance.

ANOTHER INFORTUNATE COVE.

Sudden Death-Suspicious Circumstances of the Affair.

Lave yesterday afternoon information was received at the Coroners' Office that a woman of intemperate and dissolute habits, known only as "Scotch Kate," had been lying dead in the basement of premise No. 20 Grand street nearly twenty-tour nours. On making inquiries concerning the matter, it appears that Kate had entered the place in question much making inquiries concerning the matter, it appears that Kate had entered the piace in question much under the influence of liquor, and soon became quite insensible. Dr. Brown, of Sullivan street, was called, and believing the woman to be suffering from nothing except over-indulgence in liquid poison, administered to counteract its effect. She, however, grew worse and died soon afterward.

The man, known only as "john," in wnose place the death occurred, for some cause declined giving information to the police, who eventually heard of it through another source. In addition to this fact a rumor has circulated that there were marks of violence on the wrists and ankles of secensed, as though they had been tied with cords, which directed suspicion against John, consequently he was escorted to the Frince street police station.

Dr. Brown, thinking it a clear case of alcoholism, gave a certificate to that effect, and the remains were removed to the Morgue, where Coroner Schirmer will hold an investigation. Dr. Cushman, deputy coroner, will make a post mortem examination on the body and thus determine the real cause of death. Deceased has long been known to the police of the Eighth precinct as an abandoned woman and the most deprayed of her sex. Deceased is not known to have had any permanent home or means of support.

THE RAILROAD FREIGHT BUSINESS.

The railroad lines south of Louisville, Ky., especially those running to Nashville, Memphis, New Orleans and Mobile, are all blockaded with freight, and the agents of the different lines in New York are, in consequence, refusing to give rates or receipts to points beyond Louisville. This blockade does not interfere with the passenger business. The meeting of rairond men neid in this city in the early part of last week on the subject of increased rates of freight resulted in nothing.

VACHTING NOTES.

The regatta for the champion pennants of the Atlantic Yacht Club will, doubtless, be one of the most interesting events of this season, considering the brilliant exhibitions which have nitherto marked both the annual cruises and the other contests held under the auspices of the club. The following regulations, adopted by a committee appointed at a special meeting of the club, are to be observed, viz:—Yachts of the fleet sailing in the regatta shall be classified as in the annual regatta as follows:—Schooners, first class sloops, second cabin sloops, third class cabin and open boats, and shall sall to the regatta and saliing regulations of the club, with no allowance. The course for schooners and first class sloops shall be from a stakeboat off Hunt's dock around Southwest Spit, to and around the turning over same course.

For the second and third class sloops the course will be from a stakeboat off Hunt's dock course will be from a stakeboat off Hunt's dock around Southwest Spit, to and around the outer har or Gedney Channel Dudy and returning over same course; while the open boats will proceed from Hunt's dock around Southwest Spit and return. All the yachts of each class must pass the West Bank budys Nos. 11, 13 and 13 to the eastward both going and returning.

As aiready mentioned, the race will take place on Wednesday, the 29th day of September, unless postponed by the judges on account of the weather; and the yachts will be anchored in their respective classes, in lines fifty yards apart; schooners in advance and sloops in the rear, in order of classification. All yachts of the fleet intending to sail in the regatts will be in line promptly at nine o'clock a. M. The signal to start will be given by the judges on the steamers, and will be—first whistie, to prepare to get under way; and five minutes thereafter second whistie, start. All yachts shall weigh anchor at starting, except the open boats, and throughout the race shall carry the club signal at the mast head and private signal beneath. The winning vessel of each class shall be entitled to carry the champion pennants, unchallenged, for the remainder of the season. The judges on the occarion will be Messers. William McMonles, William H. Douglas and H. Herbert Hogins.

A most interesting affair is expected, and not the least exciting will the great contest between the Gracie (Commodore Voorhis) and the Madeline (Mr. Jacob Voorhis, Jr.), as not a little rivalry exists between those famous sloop yachts. Another closely contested struggle may be looked for between the Lois and the Mystic, and altogether the regatts promises to be one of the most entertaining yachting events of the season.
